

ABSTRACT

A process for the production of cumene, which comprises producing cumene from cumyl alcohol and hydrogen with a 5 dehydration catalyst and a hydrogenation catalyst, wherein the dehydration catalyst and hydrogenation catalyst are alternately packed so as to form n layers (n is an integer of 3 or more) or are packed as a mixture thereof in a reactor.